Edward's track record spans across Middle East and Asia Pacific countries, based in Dubai, Singapore and Sydney, where he successfully helped clients meet their various requirements across start-up operations and expansion plans.

Edward offers exceptional consulting services, absolute discretion, and most ethical values in executive and contingency search.

Our Unique Market Position

The pharmaceutical, medical device, vitamins and bioscience industry is not one that immediately comes top of mind as an area for employment in Australia. However, there is strong growth in these segments with a particular focus of manufacture and supply to Asia. Australia is highly regarded in the Asia Pacific region for advanced manufacturing processes, installation and validation of robotics and sophisticated supply chain solutions. With quality and continuity of supply being high SIFOTIS performance indicators by businesses in the region the pressure is on business to find the right people to support the growth.

Talent Focus is positioned well, having a science and technology recruitment team that worked within the industry for 10 + years but also recruited in the bio science manufacturing area for over 15 years. Our network of science and technology candidates and contacts is massive with strong ties and trust generated through relationships sustained for over 25 years, in some cases.
